Clarion joins forces with clients to raise £1,000 for Being Bel

Three members of law firm Clarion have completed a 170 mile three day coast to coast cycle ride in aid of The Being Bel Trust, a charity set up to raise funds for 12 year old Bel Young from Harrogate who was severely paralysed in a fall from a climbing frame in 2010. Bel is the daughter of Clarion partner Simon Young.

On 5 July, the team comprising Andrew Howard, Dale Fawcett and Daniel Carlton of Clarion set off on the Way of the Roses coast to coast cycle route which runs between Morecambe on Lancashire's Irish Sea coast and Bridlington on Yorkshire's North Sea coast. They were joined by Steve Burrows of Leeds Unique Ltd, Impex Parts Ltd and SMS; and the team's fundraising efforts were supported by Simon Merrett of Cerberus Group.

The team succeeded in raising nearly £1,000 for Being Bel, a charity which raises funds to help pay for the equipment and treatment Bel needs as a result of her spinal injury.

Andrew Howard said: "A team from the firm first undertook this challenge to raise funds for Bel two years ago and we are committed to continuing to support her. Many thanks to all of our colleagues, clients and contacts who have sponsored us.

“Although grueling, it’s a fantastic bike ride and we were blessed with some glorious weather – the trip was made even better by knowing we were raising funds for such a good cause.”
