New Appointment Adds to Clarion's Property Expertise

Leeds legal firm Clarion has strengthened its property team with the appointment of Elise Daly as legal executive.

With 10 years' experience in the property sector, Elise was a member of Brooke North LLP's commercial property team as well as working for Clark Wilmott LLP and CMS Cameron McKenna LLP in the South West. Elise has experience of land acquisition, land assembly, commercial and residential development work and public sector projects.

"Elise will be an asset to our growing property team. She will further strengthen our capability in handling development and house building work and will also have a valuable role to play in promoting our experience and expertise in this sector," commented Martin Grange, lead partner in Clarion's property department.

“We believe there are already signs of recovery in the market although it is likely to continue to be tough and we need to be fully equipped to work with our clients to take advantage of opportunities as they arise.”

Elise added, “Clarion has a reputation as a young, dynamic firm with a very practical client-focussed approach. It has an excellent track record in the property sector, showing strong commercial sense and clear direction as well as an ability to achieve realistic objectives in a difficult market. I look forward to working with the rest of the team to deliver a full business service to our clients.”

Clarion’s property department comprises eight specialists including two partners, Martin Grange and James Lawson. It offers a full range of services such as advice on site acquisition, planning, development and sale, through to licensing, commercial services and regulatory issues. The firm acts for developers, investors, occupiers, lenders, institutions, public sector bodies, landlords and tenants.
