Winterhill Largo appoints new director

Asset recovery and insolvency support group Winterhill Largo has appointed Rob McArdle as a director in the firm's machinery and business assets team.

An asset valuation and disposal specialist with almost 30 years' experience in the corporate recovery and asset-based lending sector, Rob worked for Edward Symmons in the North West for 17 years. He went on to play an integral role in founding the property and asset consultancy, David Currie & Co, which was acquired by Winterhill Largo in 2011.

Rob will be based in Winterhill Largo's Manchester office, from where he will also head the firm's Liverpool machinery and business assets division. Commenting on his new role, Rob McArdle said: "It's an exciting time to be taking on this new role. We are seeing a surge in demand for our services, both in the UK and overseas, and Winterhill Largo is going from strength to strength. I am looking forward to working with the team to grow the profile of the firm with existing and new clients."

Neil Duckworth, chief executive of Winterhill Largo, said: "Rob's experience in machinery and business assets is second to none and his level of industry knowledge will be invaluable as the business looks to undergo further expansion in the coming months and years."

Following a merger with debt recovery firm Largo in 2010; the acquisition of David Currie & Co; and the acquisition of rival Sovereign Credit Management, Winterhill Largo now operates from six UK offices in Manchester, London, Liverpool, Blackburn, Wakefield and Horsham, as well as five overseas offices. The group employs over 70 staff.
